Biography/Investigative Reports - On the eve of Prince Charles' 50th birthday, this two-program combination takes a look at the life of the heir to the British throne. Camilla Parker Bowles: The Other Woman offers a poignant biography of the woman who captured his heart before his marriage to the late Princess Diana, and kept it through their union, divorce and Diana's death. Charles at 50 reviews the prince's own life - a half-century spent waiting in the wings to take over the job he was born to do. A&E, 7 p.m.

An Evening of Brit Wit - YTV offers up a four-pack of inventive and highly amusing animated imports, beginning with the cleverly cardboard Flatworld and including the Canadian premieres of the claymation special Rex the Runt and the animated fairy-tale update Wolves, Witches and Giants: Snow White. The evening concludes with the Wallace and Gromit classic The Wrong Trousers. YTV, 11 p.m.

Homicide: Life on the Street - In the two-part Wanted Dead or Alive, Detectives Falsone and Stivers team up with bounty hunters - not homicide detectives' favourite folks - to find missing evidence in a murder. It's a dangerous collaboration that leaves one of the detectives seriously injured. Back at the station, Gharty's Vietnam War stories cause heartburn for Munch. NBC, 9 p.m.

Sabrina, the Teenage Witch - Sabrina is disappointed when her teachers ignore her academic achievements, so she casts a spell to make them sit up, take notice and applaud. Zelda is thrown into a territorial dispute with her emperor cousin when she becomes the owner of a fiefdom. Dick Clark, Mary Hart and the music group Phantom Planet guest star. ABC, 8 p.m.

SOUNDBITE

“I'm glad I got arrested - it was a hard-core learning experience. I'm getting my stuff together at 16 years old. I've got four months sober . . . but I want to keep going. I don't aspire to be Jim Morrison anymore.”

- Still-in-rehab teen actor Brad Renfro (The Client, Apt Pupil), recalling his arrest last summer for marijuana and cocaine possession.
